Court Hearings for the Permanent Placement of Children

Court hearings are used to review the status and determine the permanent placement of children who have been placed in out-of-home care, including foster care.

The Adoption and Safe Families Act (ASFA) of 1997 (P.L. 105-89) amended title IV-E of the Social Security Act in an effort to provide added safety and permanency for children in out-of-home care. ASFA placed an emphasis on improving planning and expediting decision-making for the permanent placement of children in the child welfare system.

Schedule of Court Hearings

ASFA requires that the status of each child in out-of-home care be reviewed at least once every 6 months by either a court or an administrative review.<sup>1</sup> All States, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, Puerto Rico, and the Virgin Islands require case reviews in either statute or regulation for children placed in out-of-home care.

In addition, under ASFA, a permanency planning hearing must be held within 12 months of the date the child entered care, and then every 12 months thereafter, to review and approve the permanency plan for the child.<sup>2</sup> If a determination is made by the court that “reasonable efforts” to reunite the child with a parent are not required, a permanency planning hearing must be held within 30 days.<sup>3</sup> This generally occurs because grounds exist for the filing of a petition to terminate parental rights.<sup>4</sup> Permanency hearings are required in the statutes of all States, the District of Columbia, and Puerto Rico.

Who May Be Present at Hearings

All States’ statutes specify the persons who are entitled to receive notice of hearings so that they may attend and offer testimony. Approximately four States, the District of Columbia, American Samoa, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the U.S. Virgin Islands limit attendance to the parties.<sup>5</sup> In child welfare proceedings, the term “parties” generally includes the child, the parent or guardian of the child, and the agency or department having custody of the child.<sup>6</sup>

Most States also allow other persons who have an interest in the child’s welfare, such as the foster parent, preadoptive parent, or

<sup>3</sup> 42 U.S.C.A. § 671(a)(15)(E) (2011). To learn more about “reasonable efforts,” see Child Welfare Information Gateway’s Reasonable Efforts to Preserve or Reunify Families and Achieve Permanency for Children: http://www.childwelfare.gov/systemwide/laws\_policies/statutes/reunify.cfm

<sup>5</sup> A “party” is a person or other entity, such as an agency, that either initiates an action, such as a request for a hearing, or is asked to respond to a petition and whose interests will be addressed by the court. Arkansas, Illinois, North Dakota, and Wyoming restrict attendance to the parties. The term approximately is used to stress the fact that the States frequently amend their laws. This information is current through January 2012.

relative currently providing care for the child, to attend hearings. Other persons who may be allowed to attend include:

- The child's grandparent or other relative who is not currently caring for the child<sup>7</sup>
- The child's guardian ad litem<sup>8</sup>
- The child's court-appointed special advocate<sup>9</sup>
- A representative of the Tribe when the child is an Indian child<sup>10</sup>

However, in approximately 21 States and Puerto Rico, the law explicitly states that the opportunity to attend the hearing does not confer party status on the individual.<sup>11</sup> In other words, the individual may be allowed to testify, but his or her interests will not be addressed by the court.

Determinations Made at Hearings

The main determination made at any hearing is whether the child's current placement is safe and appropriate for the child's needs. The hearing also serves as a forum for the court to make the following determinations:

- Whether the case plan developed by the State agency is appropriately addressing the service needs of the child and his or her family<sup>12</sup>
- The extent of the family's compliance with the case plan
- The progress that has been made in correcting the conditions that led to the child's placement in out-of-home care

<sup>7</sup> Grandparents may attend in Alaska, Kansas, and Puerto Rico. Other relatives may attend in Arizona, Florida, Indiana, and Kansas.

<sup>12</sup> For further discussion of the case planning process, see Child Welfare Information Gateway's Case Planning for Families Involved With Child Welfare Agencies: http://www.childwelfare.gov/systemwide/laws\_policies/statutes/caseplanning.cfm

- Whether the agency or department has made reasonable efforts to provide services that meet the child and family's needs

At the permanency hearing, a plan must be developed that includes the desired permanency goal and the timeframe for achieving that goal.

Permanency Options

Reunification of the child with his or her family is the preferred permanency option whenever that can be safely achieved. In those cases where reunification is not appropriate, adoption is viewed as providing the greatest degree of permanence. In some situations, however, adoption may not be a realistic or appropriate option. For example, some older children may object to losing legal ties to their birth parents. Or some children have special needs that prevent placement in a home environment, so an adoptive placement is difficult to achieve. Consequently, in those cases, attention may be focused on alternative permanency options such as guardianship with relatives. Such options do not provide the same level of permanency available through adoption but frequently facilitate continuity of family ties, which may be in the child's best interests.

While permanency preferences vary somewhat from State to State, in general, statutes addressing legal permanency options include the following:

- Reunification with the parent(s)
- Adoption, with placement preference to a relative or current foster parent
- Permanent placement and legal guardianship with a fit and willing relative (kinship care)
- Legal guardianship or custody with another adult
- Another planned permanent living arrangement<sup>13</sup>

<sup>13</sup> 42 U.S.C.A. § 675(5)(C) (2011). Depending on the age and needs of the child, other permanent living arrangements can include long-term foster care, residential care, and independent living.

This publication is a product of the State Statutes Series prepared by Child Welfare Information Gateway. While every attempt has been made to be complete, additional information on these topics may be in other sections of a State's code as well as agency regulations, case law, and informal practices and procedures.

Schedule of Hearings

Citation: Ala. Code §§ 12-15-312; 12-15-315; Admin. Code r. 660-5-28-.06

If reasonable efforts are not made with respect to a child as a result of a determination made by a juvenile court, a permanency hearing shall be held for the child within 30 days after the determination.

Within 12 months of the date a child is removed from the home and placed in out-of-home care, and no less frequently than every 12 months thereafter during the continuation of the child in out-of-home care, the juvenile court shall hold a permanency hearing.

In regulation: A review of the case plan for every child in foster care either by court review or administrative review must be completed at least every 6 months. These review requirements apply to all children in the custody of the Department of Human Resources or for whom the department has planning responsibility whether or not they are in foster care. For foster children age 16 and older, the written transitional independent living plan must be reviewed at the 6-month review.

Persons Entitled to Attend Hearings

Citation: Ala. Code § 12-15-307

Relative caregivers, preadoptive parents, and foster parents of a child in foster care under the responsibility of the State shall be given notice, verbally or in writing, of the date, time, and place of any juvenile court proceeding being held with respect to a child in their care. Foster parents, preadoptive parents, and relative caregivers of a child in foster care have a right to be heard in any juvenile court proceeding held with respect to a child in their care. No foster parent, preadoptive parent, or relative caregiver of a child in foster care shall be made a party to a juvenile court proceeding solely on the basis of this notice and right to be heard pursuant to this section.

Determinations Made at Hearings

Citation: Ala. Code § 12-15-315

At the permanency hearing, the department shall present to the juvenile court a permanent plan for the child. If a permanent plan is not presented to the court at this hearing, there shall be a rebuttable presumption that the child should be returned home. In the case of a child who will not be returned home, at the permanency hearing the court shall consider in-State and out-of-State placement options.

If the court determines the permanent plan shall be placement in another planned permanent living arrangement, the department must document a compelling reason for determining that it would not be in the best interests of the child to return home, be placed for adoption, be permanently placed with a relative, be placed with a kinship guardian, or be placed in adult custodial care. If the child has been placed in foster care outside the State of Alabama, at the permanency hearing the court shall determine whether the out-of-State placement continues to be appropriate and in the best interests of the child.

In the case of a child who has attained age 16, the court shall consider the services needed to assist the child to make the transition from foster care to independent living. In any permanency hearing held with respect to the child, including any hearing regarding the transition of the child from foster care to independent living, the juvenile court shall consult, in an age-appropriate manner, with the child regarding the proposed permanency or transition plan for the child.

Permanency plans may be concurrent, and the department may make reasonable efforts concurrently toward multiple permanency goals. The permanency hearing order of the court shall address whether the department has made reasonable efforts to finalize any existing permanency plan for the child.

Permanency Options*Citation: Ala. Code § 12-15-315

The purpose of the permanency hearing shall be to determine the permanency plan for the child that may include whether, and, if applicable, when, the child shall be:

- Returned home on a specific date
- Placed for adoption with no identified resource or with the current foster parent wherein the department shall file a petition for termination of parental rights
- Permanently placed with a relative with a transfer of legal and physical custody to the relative or with a transfer of physical custody to the relative but with the department retaining legal custody
- Permanently placed with a kinship guardian pursuant to a written request filed by the department. The written request shall contain the following:
  - » That the kinship guardianship is in the best interests of the child and that a permanency goal of return of the child to his or her parents or adoption would not be in the best interests of the child
  - » That granting a kinship guardianship will provide the child with a safe and permanent home
  - » That the child demonstrates a strong attachment to the relative caregiver and the relative caregiver demonstrates a strong commitment to caring permanently for the child
  - » That the relative caregiver has been approved as a foster parent by the department, has completed a criminal history and child abuse and neglect central registry clearances, and that results of these clearances have been provided to the court
  - » That the child has been in foster care in the care of the prospective kinship guardian for no less than 6 consecutive months
  - » That if the child is age 14 or older, he or she has indicated his or her position regarding the prospective kinship guardianship and, if the child is age 18 or older, he or she has consented to the kinship guardianship if capable of giving effective consent
- Placed in adult custodial care
- Placed in another planned permanent living arrangement

If the court determines that reasonable efforts are not required to be provided, the court shall hold a permanency hearing for the child within 30 days after the determination.

Within 12 months after the date a child enters foster care, the court shall hold a permanency hearing. The court shall hold a hearing to review the permanent plan at least annually until implementation of the plan is successful. If the plan approved by the court changes after the hearing, the Department of Health and Social Services shall promptly apply to the court for another permanency hearing, and the court shall conduct the hearing within 30 days after application by the department.

In regulation: The case plan must be reviewed with the client at least every 6 months and reviewed at every required staffing.

In all cases under this chapter, the child, each parent, the Tribe, foster parent or other out-of-home care provider, guardian, and guardian ad litem of the child, and each grandparent of the child shall be given notice of the proceedings and the possibility of termination of parental rights and responsibilities.

The department shall give advance written notice of all court hearings to a child's grandparent if:

- The department is aware that the child has a grandparent and the grandparent's mailing address is on file.

The department is not required to give advance notice to a grandparent about hearings in a child's case if the grandparent:

- Whether the department has made reasonable efforts to offer appropriate family support services to the parent
- Whether the parent has made substantial progress to remedy conduct or conditions in the home
- If the plan is for the child to remain in out-of-home care, whether the child's placement continues to be appropriate
- Whether the department has made reasonable efforts to finalize the permanent plan for the child

Permanency Options*Citation: Alaska Stat. § 47.10.080

When establishing the permanency plan, the court shall determine whether:

- The child should be returned to the parent or guardian
- The child should be placed for adoption or legal guardianship and a petition for termination of parental rights be filed by the department
- The child should be placed in another planned permanent living arrangement and the steps needed to achieve the new arrangement

Arizona*Schedule of Hearings*Citation: Rev. Stat. §§ 8-847; 8-862

After the disposition hearing, the court shall hold periodic review hearings at least once every 6 months as required by Federal law.

The court shall hold a permanency hearing to determine the future permanent legal status of the child:

- Within 30 days after the disposition hearing if the court does not order reunification services
- Within 6 months after a child who is under age 3 is removed from the child's home
- In all other cases, within 12 months after the child is removed from the child's home

If the court determines that the child should remain in out-of-home placement longer than 18 months from the date of the permanency order, the court shall conduct a review of the order at least once each year. After reviewing the order, the court may reaffirm the order or direct other disposition of the child.

Persons Entitled to Attend Hearings*Citation: Rev. Stat. § 8-847

The following persons shall be provided notice of the review and the right to participate in the proceeding:

- Any other person as the court may direct

Determinations Made at Hearings*Citation: Rev. Stat. §§ 8-845; 8-862

In reviewing the status of the child, the court shall consider the health and safety of the child as a paramount concern and the following criteria:

- The goals of the placement and the appropriateness of the case plan
- The services that have been offered to reunite the family
- If returning the child home is not likely, the efforts that have been or should be made to evaluate or plan for other permanent placement plans
- The efforts that have been made or should be made to place the child with the child's siblings or to provide frequent visitation or contact when placement with siblings has not been possible

The court shall review the permanent plan that has been established for the child. In reviewing the status of the child, the court, insofar as possible, shall seek to reunite the family. If the court does not order reunification of the family, the court shall order a plan of adoption or another permanent plan that is in the child's best interests and that takes into consideration the placement of the child with siblings or that provides for frequent visitation or contact among siblings unless the court determines that either the placement with the siblings or the visitation or contact would be contrary to the child's or a sibling's safety or well-being.

At the permanency hearing, the court shall determine:

- Whether termination of parental rights, adoption, permanent guardianship, or some other permanent legal status is the most appropriate plan for the child
- Whether reasonable efforts have been made to finalize the permanency plan in effect
- What efforts have been made in the permanency plan to place the child with the child's siblings or to provide frequent visitation or contact, unless the court had already determined that placement with all or any siblings or visitation or contact is not possible or would be contrary to the child's or a sibling's safety or well-being

Permanency Options*Citation: Rev. Stat. §§ 8-845; 8-862

The court may order any of the following:

- Return to the child's parent
- Placement with a grandparent or other member of the child's extended family, including a person who has a significant relationship with the child, unless the court determines that such placement is not in the child's best interests
- Adoption
- Placement with a suitable institution, association, or school
- Independent living
- Placement with any adult as a permanent guardian

For the purposes of this subsection, a prospective permanent placement includes:

- A grandparent or another member of the child's extended family, including a person who has a significant relationship with the child
- A person or persons with an expressed interest in being the permanent placement for the child in a certified adoptive home where the child resides, a home that is a permanent placement for a sibling of the child, or a licensed family foster home where the child resides

- The State has made reasonable efforts to provide family services.

- The extent of progress that has been made toward alleviating or mitigating the causes of the out-of-home placement

- Returning the child to the parent if the child's health and safety can be adequately safeguarded
- Authorizing a plan to return the child to the parent only if the court finds that:
  - » The parent is complying with the case plan, making significant measurable progress toward achieving the goals of the case plan, and diligently working toward reunification.
  - » The parent is making significant and measurable progress toward remedying the conditions that caused the child's removal from the home.
  - » The return of the child to the parent shall occur within a timeframe that is consistent with the child's developmental needs but no later than 3 months from the date of the permanency planning hearing.
- Authorizing a plan for adoption with the department filing a petition for termination of parental rights unless:
  - » The child is being cared for by a relative, including a minor foster child caring for his or her own child who is in foster care, and termination of parental rights is not in the best interests of the child.
  - » The department has documented in the case plan a compelling reason why filing such a petition is not in the best interests of the child.
  - » The department has not provided to the family of the child the services needed for the safe return of the child to the child's home.
- Authorizing a plan to obtain a guardian for the child
- Authorizing a plan to obtain a permanent custodian, including permanent custody with a fit and willing relative
- Authorizing a plan for another planned permanent living arrangement, including, but not limited to, Independent Living services, if age appropriate, and a plan for the supervision and nurturing the juvenile will receive

California*Schedule of Hearings*Citation: Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.21

Effective January 1, 2014

Hearings shall be held as follows:

- A review hearing shall be held 6 months after the initial dispositional hearing, but no later than 12 months after the child has entered foster care.
- A permanency hearing shall be held 12 months after the child has entered foster care and may be continued for 6 months.
- A permanency hearing shall be held within 120 days if:
  - » The child is younger than age 3 or part of a sibling group.
  - » The whereabouts of the parents are unknown.
  - » The court finds that the parent has failed to make substantive progress on a court-ordered treatment plan.
  - » The parent has been convicted of a felony indicating parental unfitness.

Persons Entitled to Attend Hearings*Citation: Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.21

The following shall be present at the hearings:

- The social worker
- Counsel for the child
- A court-appointed child advocate
- The parent or legal guardian

When a child has been in the physical custody of a foster parent, a relative caregiver, or a certified foster parent who has been approved for adoption, the foster parent, relative caregiver, or the certified foster parent may file with the court a report containing his or her recommendation for disposition. The court shall consider the report and recommendation prior to determining any disposition.

Determinations Made at Hearings*Citation: Welf. & Inst. Code § 366.21

At the hearing, the court shall consider:

- The criminal history of the parent subsequent to the child's removal to the extent that the criminal record is substantially related to the welfare of the child or the parent's ability to exercise custody and control regarding his or her child
- Whether reasonable services that were designed to aid the parent or legal guardian to overcome the problems that led to the initial removal and continued custody of the child have been provided or offered to the parent or legal guardian
- The efforts or progress, or both, demonstrated by the parent and the extent to which he or she availed himself or herself of services provided, taking into account the particular barriers to an incarcerated or institutionalized parent or legal guardian's access to those court-mandated services and ability to maintain contact with his or her child

For each youth age 16 or older, the court shall determine whether services have been made available to assist him or her in making the transition from foster care to independent living.

If the court orders that a child who is age 10 or older remain in long-term foster care, the court shall determine whether the agency has made reasonable efforts to maintain the child's relationships with individuals other than the child's siblings who are important to the child, consistent with the child's best interests, and may make any appropriate order to ensure that those relationships are maintained.

If the child had been placed under court supervision with a previously noncustodial parent, the court shall determine whether supervision is still necessary. The court may terminate supervision and transfer permanent custody to that parent.

Permanency Options

Citation: Welf. & Inst. Code §§ 366.21; 366.26

At the permanency hearing, the court shall determine the permanent plan for the child, which shall include a determination of whether the child will be returned to the child's home and, if so, when. The court shall order the return of the child to the physical custody of his or her parent or legal guardian unless the court finds, by a preponderance of the evidence, that the return of the child to his or her parent or legal guardian would create a substantial risk of detriment to the safety, protection, or physical or emotional well-being of the child.

For each youth age 16 or older, the court shall also determine whether services have been made available to assist him or her in making the transition from foster care to independent living.

If the court determines that the child cannot be returned to his or her parent, a hearing will be held as directed by § 366.26. At this hearing, the court shall make findings and orders in the following order of preference:

- Terminate the rights of the parent or parents, and order that the child be placed for adoption
- Appoint a relative or relatives with whom the child is currently residing as legal guardian or guardians for the child
- Identify adoption as the permanent placement goal, and order that efforts be made to locate an appropriate adoptive family for the child within 180 days
- Appoint a nonrelative legal guardian for the child, and order that letters of guardianship be issued
- Order that the child be placed in long-term foster care, subject to the periodic review of the juvenile court

- The child, if appropriate
- The foster parents, preadoptive parents, or relative caregivers, if any

In regulation: An administrative review is open to the participation of the parents of the child, the child (if age appropriate, as determined by the caseworker), and the out-of-home care provider, preadoptive parents, or relatives/kin who are providing out-of-home care for the child. All attorneys of record must be invited to court-ordered administrative reviews.

Determinations Made at Hearings*Citation: Rev. Stat. § 19-3-702

At the permanency hearing, the court shall first determine whether the child shall be returned to the child's parent, and, if applicable, the date on which the child shall be returned, and whether reasonable efforts have been made to find a safe and permanent placement for the child. If the child is not returned to his or her parent, the court shall determine whether there is a substantial probability that the child will be returned within 6 months.

At any permanency hearing conducted by the court, the court shall make determinations as to the following:

- Whether procedural safeguards to preserve parental rights have been applied in connection with any change in the child's placement or any determination affecting parental visitation of the child
- Whether reasonable efforts have been made to finalize the permanency plan that is in effect at the time of the hearing
- If a child resides in a placement out of State, whether the out-of-State placement continues to be appropriate and in the best interests of the child
- If the child is age 16 or older, whether the permanency plan includes Independent Living services

Periodic reviews conducted by the court--or, if there is no objection by any party to the action and at the court's discretion, through an administrative review conducted by the department--shall determine the following:

- Whether the child's safety is protected in the placement
- Whether reasonable efforts have been made to find a safe and permanent placement
- The continuing necessity for and appropriateness of the placement
- The extent of compliance with the case plan, and the extent of progress that has been made toward alleviating or mitigating the causes necessitating placement in foster care
- A likely date by which the child may be returned to and safely maintained at home or placed for adoption, legal guardianship, or another permanent safe placement setting

Permanency Options*Citation: Rev. Stat. §§ 19-3-702; 19-3-703

If the child cannot be returned to the parent, the court shall determine the future placement of the child. Options for placement may include:

- Adoption
- Legal guardianship or custody
- Placement with a fit and willing relative
- Another permanent living arrangement

In counties with expedited permanency planning, placement options for a child under age 6 include:

- Reunification with the parent

- If the child cannot be returned home, placement in the least restrictive level of care

Connecticut*Schedule of Hearings*Citation: Gen. Stat. § 46b-129

A review hearing shall be held within 60 days of the child's removal from the home.

Permanency hearings shall be held:

- Initially 9 months after placement of the child

- Within 30 days if the court determines that reasonable efforts are no longer appropriate

Persons Entitled to Attend Hearings*Citation: Gen. Stat. § 46b-129

The court shall provide notice to the child and the parent or guardian of the child of the time and place of the court hearing no less than 14 days prior to such hearing.

A foster parent, prospective adoptive parent, or relative caregiver shall receive notice and have the right to be heard in any proceeding concerning a foster child living with such foster parent, prospective adoptive parent, or relative caregiver. A foster parent, prospective adoptive parent, or relative caregiver who has cared for a child shall have the right to be heard and comment on the best interests of such child in any proceeding that is brought no later than 1 year after the last day the foster parent, prospective adoptive parent, or relative caregiver provided such care.

Upon motion of any sibling of any child committed to the Department of Children and Families, such sibling shall have the right to be heard concerning visitation with, and placement of, any such child. In awarding any visitation or modifying any placement, the court shall be guided by the best interests of all siblings affected by such determination.

Determinations Made at Hearings*Citation: Gen. Stat. § 46b-129

At the review hearing, the court shall determine whether the department made reasonable efforts to keep the child with his or her parents or guardian prior to the removal of the child from home and, if such efforts were not made, whether such reasonable efforts were not possible, taking into consideration the child's best interests, including his or her health and safety.

At the permanency hearing, the court shall review:

- The status of the child
- The progress being made to implement the permanency plan
- The timetable for attaining the permanency plan
- The services to be provided to the parent if the court approves a permanency plan of reunification and the timetable for such services
- Whether the Department of Children and Families has made reasonable efforts to achieve the permanency plan

Permanency Options*Citation: Gen. Stat. § 46b-129

At the permanency hearing, the court shall approve a permanency plan that is in the best interests of the child and takes into consideration the child's need for permanency. The child's health and safety shall be of paramount concern in formulating the plan. Such permanency plan may include the goal of:

- Revocation of commitment and reunification of the child with the parent, with or without protective supervision
- Transfer of guardianship
- Long-term foster care with a relative licensed as a foster parent
- Petitioning for termination of parental rights and adoption
- Another planned permanent living arrangement

Another planned permanent living arrangement may be ordered by the court only after the commissioner of the Department of Children and Families has documented a compelling reason why it would not be in the best interests of the child for the permanency plan to include another permanency goal. The other planned permanent living arrangement may include, but not be limited to, placement of a child or youth in an Independent Living program or long-term foster care with an identified foster parent.

The court shall seek to determine:

- The compliance or lack of compliance of all parties with applicable items of the case plan, including the parents' compliance with child support orders
- The compliance or lack of compliance with a visitation contract between the parent and the social service agency for contact with the child
- The compliance or lack of compliance of the parent in meeting specified financial obligations pertaining to the care of the child
- Whether the child is receiving safe and proper care, including, but not limited to, the appropriateness of the child's current placement
- A projected date likely for the child's return home or other permanent placement
- When appropriate, the basis for the unwillingness or inability of the parent to become a party to a case plan
- For a child who has reached age 13 but is not yet age 18, the adequacy of the child's preparation for adulthood and independent living
- If amendments to the case plan are required

At the permanency hearing, the court shall determine:

- Whether the current permanency goal for the child is appropriate or should be changed
- When the child will achieve one of the permanency goals
- Whether the department has made reasonable efforts to finalize the permanency plan currently in effect

The best interests of the child are the primary consideration in determining the permanency goal for the child. The court must also consider:

- The reasonable preference of the child if the court has found the child to be of sufficient intelligence, understanding, and experience to express a preference
- Any recommendation of the guardian ad litem

Permanency Options*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 39.621

The permanency goals available under this chapter, listed in order of preference, are:

If a child will not be reunited with a parent, adoption is the primary permanency option. If the child is placed with a relative or with a relative of the child's half-brother or half-sister as a permanency option, the court may recognize the permanency of this placement without requiring the relative to adopt the child.

If the court approves a permanency goal of permanent guardianship of a dependent child, placement with a fit and willing relative, or another planned permanent living arrangement, the court shall make findings as to why this permanent placement is established without adoption of the child to follow. If the court approves a permanency goal of another planned permanent living arrangement, the court shall document the compelling reasons for choosing this goal.

  - » The child exhibits such an extreme level of need that the removal of the child from his or her placement would be detrimental to the child.
  - » The child who is the subject of the permanency hearing has existing close and strong bonds with a sibling, and achievement of another permanency goal would substantially interfere with the child's sibling relationship, taking into consideration the nature and extent of the relationship, and whether ongoing contact is in the child's best interests, including long-term emotional interests, as compared with the legal and emotional benefit of permanence.
- The child has lived with the relative or foster parent for at least 1 year.
- The relative or foster parent currently caring for the child is willing and capable of providing the child with a stable and permanent environment.

- Consider the question of continued jurisdiction and whether the dispositional decree should be modified
- Consider the recommendations of persons listed under § 31-34-21-4 before approving a permanency plan
- Consult with the child in an age-appropriate manner regarding the proposed permanency plan
- Consider and approve a permanency plan for the child that complies with the requirements of § 31-34-21-7.5
- Determine whether an existing permanency plan must be modified
- Examine procedural safeguards used by the department to protect parental rights

If the child is at least age 16 and the proposed permanency plan provides for the transition of the child from foster care to independent living, the court shall:

- Require the department to provide notice of the permanency hearing to the child
- Provide to the child an opportunity to be heard and to make recommendations to the court

Permanency Options*Citation: Ann. Code § 31-34-21-7.5

The intended permanent or long-term arrangements for care and custody of the child may include any of the following arrangements that the court considers most appropriate and consistent with the best interests of the child:

- Initiation of a proceeding for termination of the parent-child relationship
- Placement for adoption

Iowa*Schedule of Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 232.104: Admin. Code Tit. 13, § 441-130.7(4)

An initial permanency hearing shall be held:

- Within 12 months of the date the child was removed from the home
- Within 30 days in a case for which the reasonable efforts requirement has been waived

Following an initial permanency hearing and the entry of a permanency order that places a child in the custody or guardianship of another person or agency, the court shall retain jurisdiction and annually review the order to ascertain whether the best interests of the child are being served.

In lieu of the procedures specified above, the court may close the case of a child in need of assistance by transferring jurisdiction over the child's guardianship to the probate court. Upon transferring jurisdiction, the court shall direct the probate clerk, once the proposed guardian has filed an oath of office and identification in accordance with § 602.6111, to issue letters of appointment for guardianship and docket the case in probate.

In regulation: The reevaluation of the case plan shall be filed at least every 6 months, or more often when there are significant changes, when required by the court, or when required according to the rules of the service.

Persons Entitled to Attend Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 232.91

Any hearings or proceedings shall not take place without the presence of the child's parent, guardian, custodian, or guardian ad litem. A parent without custody may petition the court to be made a party to the proceedings.

An agency, facility, institution, or person, including a foster parent or an individual providing preadoptive care, may petition the court to be made a party to the proceedings. If a child is of an appropriate age to attend the hearing but the child does not attend, the court shall determine whether the child was informed of his or her right to attend the hearing.

If a child is of an age appropriate to attend a hearing but the child does not attend, the court shall determine if the child was informed of the child's right to attend the hearing. A presumption exists that it is in the best interests of a child age 14 or older to attend all hearings and all staff or family meetings involving placement options or services provided to the child. The Department of Human Services shall allow the child to attend all such hearings and meetings unless the attorney for the child finds the child's attendance is not in the best interests of the child. If the child is excluded from attending a hearing or meeting, the department shall maintain a written record detailing the reasons for excluding the child. A copy of the written record shall be made available to the child upon the request of the child after he or she reaches the age of majority.

For purposes of this section, 'attend' includes the appearance of the child at a hearing by video or telephonic means.

Determinations Made at Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 232.104

During the hearing, the court shall consider the child's need for a secure and permanent placement in light of any permanency plan or evidence submitted to the court and the reasonable efforts made concerning the child. Upon completion of the hearing, the court shall enter written findings and make a determination identifying a primary permanency goal for the child. If a permanency plan is in effect at the time of the hearing, the court shall also make a determination whether reasonable progress is being made in achieving the permanency goal and complying with the other provisions of that permanency plan.

After a permanency hearing, the court shall do one of the following:

- Enter an order to return the child to the child's home
- Enter an order to continue placement of the child for an additional 6 months at which time the court shall hold a hearing to consider modification of its permanency order
- Direct the county attorney or the attorney for the child to institute proceedings to terminate the parent-child relationship
- Enter an order to do one of the following:
  - » Transfer guardianship and custody of the child to a suitable person
  - » Transfer sole custody of the child from one parent to another parent
  - » Transfer custody of the child to a suitable person for the purpose of long-term care
- If the department has documented to the court's satisfaction a compelling reason for determining that an order for one of the options listed above would not be in the child's best interests, order another planned permanent living arrangement for the child

Kansas*Schedule of Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 38-2264; Pol. & Proc. Man. § 3205

A permanency hearing shall be held:

- Within 12 months of the date the court authorized the child's removal from the home and at least every 12 months thereafter
- Within 30 days of a determination that reintegration may not be a viable alternative for the child

In regulation: A formal case planning review is conducted at least every 170 days. Any member of the case planning team may request a formal review of the case plan at any time. The purpose is to re-evaluate the case plan and modify it as needed to better meet the needs of the family and the child.

Persons Entitled to Attend Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 38-2265

Determinations Made at Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 38-2264

The purpose of the permanency hearing is determining progress toward accomplishment of a permanency plan. The court shall enter a finding as to whether reasonable efforts have been made by appropriate public or private agencies to rehabilitate the family and achieve the permanency goal in place at the time of the hearing.

When the court finds that reintegration of the family continues to be a viable alternative, the court shall determine whether and, if applicable, when the child will be returned to the parent. The court may rescind any of its prior dispositional orders and enter any dispositional order authorized by this code or may order that a new plan for the reintegration be prepared and submitted to the court.

If the court finds reintegration is no longer a viable alternative, the court shall consider whether:

- The child is in a stable placement with a relative.
- Services set out in the case plan necessary for the safe return of the child have been made available to the parent with whom reintegration is planned.
- Compelling reasons are documented in the case plan to support a finding that neither adoption nor appointment of a permanent custodian is in the child's best interests.

Permanency Options*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 38-2264

The court will determine whether and, if applicable, when the child will be:

- Reintegrated with the child's parents
- Placed for adoption
- Placed with a permanent custodian
- Placed in another planned permanent arrangement when there is documented evidence that there are compelling reasons why another permanent placement is not in the child's best interests

Persons Entitled to Attend Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 260C.163, Subd. 2, 3

A child who is the subject of a petition, and the parents, guardian, or legal custodian of the child have the right to participate in all proceedings on a petition, including the opportunity to attend all hearings in person. Official Tribal representatives have the right to participate in any proceeding that is subject to the Indian Child Welfare Act.

A parent with a legally recognized parent-child relationship must be provided the right to be heard in any review or hearing held with respect to the child, including the right to be heard on the disposition order, parental visitation, and the out-of-home placement plan. The right to be heard does not automatically confer party status.

Any grandparent of the child has a right to participate in the proceedings to the same extent as a parent, if the child has lived with the grandparent within the 2 years preceding the filing of the petition.

If, in a permanency proceeding involving a child in need of protection or services, any party files a petition for transfer of permanent legal and physical custody to a named relative, the relative has a right to participate in the permanency proceeding as a party on the issues of the relative's suitability to be a legal and physical custodian for the child, whether the transfer is in the child's best interests, and the needs of the child. Thereafter the named relative shall receive notice of any hearing in the proceedings.

In any proceeding where the subject of a petition for a child in need of protection or services is not represented by an attorney, the court shall determine the child's preferences regarding the proceedings, if the child is of suitable age to express a preference.

Determinations Made at Hearings*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 260C.201, Subd. 10

The court shall determine:

- Whether continued out-of-home placement is necessary and appropriate
- Whether the agency has provided the services required by the case plan
- The parent's progress on the out-of-home placement plan
- The permanent status of a child who has been in placement 12 months or more

Permanency Options*Citation: Ann. Stat. § 260C.201, Subd. 11

At the conclusion of the permanency proceedings, the court shall:

- Order the child returned to the care of the parent or guardian from whom the child was removed
- Order a permanent placement or termination of parental rights if permanent placement or termination of parental rights is in the child's best interests

If the child cannot return home, guardianship and adoption are the preferred permanency options. Other permanency options include:

- Permanent legal and physical custody to a relative
- Long-term foster care if there are compelling reasons that awarding permanent custody to a relative and termination of parental rights are not in the child's best interests. The reasons may include:
  - » The child is age 12 or older, and efforts to find an adoptive placement or a fit and willing relative have not proven successful.
  - » The child is a sibling of a child described above, and the siblings have a significant positive relationship and are ordered into the same long-term foster care home.
  - » Long-term foster care continues to be the most appropriate legal arrangement for meeting the child's need for permanency and stability.
  - » The long-term foster care family is committed to being the foster family for the child as long as the child is a minor or under the jurisdiction of the court.
  - » The child is receiving appropriate services or assistance to maintain or build connections with the child's family and community.
  - » The child's physical and mental health needs are being appropriately provided for.
  - » The child's educational needs are being met.
- Foster care for a specified period of time if:
  - » The sole reason that the child is in need of protection or services is the child's behavior.
  - » The court finds that foster care for a specified period of time is in the best interests of the child.

Every case regarding a child alleged or adjudicated to be deprived shall be reviewed by the court at a hearing no later than 6 months from the date of the child's removal from the home and at least once every 6 months thereafter until permanency is achieved or the court otherwise terminates jurisdiction. A review hearing may be held concurrently with a permanency hearing.

When the Department of Human Services has documented a compelling reason why a petition to terminate parental rights to a child is not in the best interests of the child and that reason is based upon a consideration that the child is presently not capable of functioning in a family setting, the court shall reevaluate the status of the child every 90 days until there is a final determination that the child cannot be placed in a family setting.

The court shall conduct a permanency hearing:

- No later than 6 months after placing the child in out-of-home placement and every 6 months thereafter

The court also shall make written findings related to:

The court shall schedule a follow-up hearing within 6 months as of the date of having awarded temporary custody of the minor. At the hearing, the judge shall determine whether the family, father, mother, or person in charge of the minor is expending reasonable efforts as required under this chapter to achieve family reunification. If such is the case, the judge shall provide the family, father, mother, or person in charge of the minor an additional 3 months to continue receiving services based on the permanent placement plan to attempt family reunification. However, if at the hearing the Department of the Family proves to the judge that the family, father, mother, or person in charge of the minor will not comply or does not wish to carry on with the permanent placement plan, the judge shall convert the follow-up hearing into a final ruling hearing, pursuant to § 447k of this title.

- The division has provided and is providing reasonable efforts to reunify a family in accordance with the child and family plan
- The parent has fulfilled or is fulfilling identified duties and responsibilities in order to comply with the requirements of the child and family plan

At the permanency hearing the court shall determine whether the child may safely be returned to the custody of his or her parents. The court shall review and consider:

- The report prepared by the division
- Any admissible evidence offered by the minor's guardian ad litem
- Any report submitted by the division under § 78A-6-315(3)(a)(i)
- Any evidence regarding the efforts or progress demonstrated by the parent
- The extent to which the parent cooperated and utilized the services provided

If the child is not returned to his or her parent or guardian at the permanency hearing, the court shall:

- Order termination of reunification services to the parent
- Make a final determination regarding whether termination of parental rights, adoption, or permanent custody and guardianship is the most appropriate final plan for the child, taking into account the child's primary permanency goal
- Establish a concurrent plan that identifies the second most appropriate final plan for the child

If the permanency goal of the disposition case plan is reunification with a parent, guardian, or custodian, the court shall hold a review hearing within 60 days of the date of the disposition order.

A permanency review hearing shall be held no less than every 12 months with the first hearing to be held 12 months after the date the legal custody of the child was transferred, subject to the following exceptions:

- If the child was age 3 or younger at the time of the initial transfer of legal custody, the court may order that permanency review hearings be held as frequently as every 3 months.
- If the child is between age 3 and 6 at the time of the initial transfer of legal custody, the court may order that permanency review hearings be held as frequently as every 6 months.

If the court shortens the time for the permanency review hearing for a younger sibling, that shortened review interval shall be applied to all siblings in the family who are in the legal custody of the Department for Children and Families.

Upon the filing of a petition for a finding of reasonable efforts, the court shall hold a hearing within 30 days to determine, by a preponderance of the evidence, whether the department has made reasonable efforts to finalize the permanency plan for the child that is in effect at the time of the hearing. The hearing may be consolidated with or separate from a permanency hearing. Reasonable efforts to finalize a permanency plan may consist of:

- Reasonable efforts to reunify the child and family when the permanency plan for the child is reunification

The permanency hearing may be held by an administrative body appointed or approved by the court. In the event that the administrative body determines that the existing order should be altered, it shall submit its recommendation to the court for its consideration. In the event that the administrative body determines that the existing order should not be altered, its determination shall be binding unless any party requests review by the court within 10 days of receipt of the determination.
